November 08 | On The Road: Stafrænn Hákon – Sanítas

The mastermind behind Stafrænn Hákon, Ólafur Josephsson, knows how to put together an album. On Sanítas, which is rockier than his previous records, each song weaves into the next like a tightly-knitted sock. It actually sounds like a road trip—that is where this album belongs: In your car, on a long drive. It requires forward momentum and clear roads. more

09.11.2010 | 15:30 Jehovah's Witness in Iceland Accused of Sex Offences

Women who have been members of Jehovah's Witness in Iceland claim that sexual and domestic violence is practiced within the congregation and that such offenses are hushed up.

Svanberg Jakobsson, spokesperson for Jehovah's Witness in Iceland, confirmed to ruv.is that suspicion of such offenses have surfaced within the congregation but denied that they are hushed up.

Jakobsson stated that cases of alleged offenses are investigated within the congregation and if there is reason to do so, they are reported to the police. One case of sexual abuse has been reported to the police by the congregation, he said.

On Sunday a young woman declared on the news on RÚV that she had fled the congregation after realizing that sex offenses were being covered up.

RÚV is aware of some of Jehovah's Witness's former and current members having sought professional help after suffering sexual abuse within the congregation.

November 12 | Server Failure

We are unfortunately experiencing some problems with the server, which caused the website being down earlier this day, delay in updating the news and other irregularities. It's also the reason for some of the pictures not showing. However, the problem is being worked on and hopefully it will be fixed soon.

November 12 | Iceland Thought Iraq Invasion Support List Confidential

Former Prime Minister of Iceland David Oddsson and Foreign Minister Halldór Ásgrímsson were unaware as to the purpose of the list of the "coalition of the willing"—nations supporting the US-UK invasion of Iraq in 2003. The publication of the list came as a surprise; they thought it would be confidential. more

November 08 | Event of the Week: Power Has a Fragrance

For several years Gardar Eide Einarsson's art has been subject to a major international attention, and his work is well represented in collections and exhibitions worldwide.

The dual theme of authority and rebellion is a departure point for Einarsson's visually hermetic, mostly black and white paintings, carefully constructed sculptures, photographs, videos, flags and flyers.
